

Trust in the Auto Repair Industry is on the Decline.

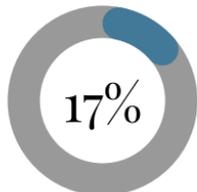

Women who fully trust their repair shop

Consumers have experience with untrustworthy mechanics

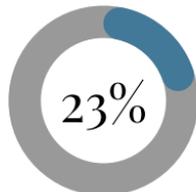

Consumers believe they have been overcharged

Consumers who believe they have been charged fairly

Consumers say they don't trust their car repair shop

Consumers feel they were sold unnecessary services